Government to Try to Halt Railway Strike

By NEIL GILBRIDE

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government tries this weekend to head off a nationwide railroad strike set for Tuesday morning.

Chairman Howard Ganser of the National Mediation Board pledged intensive efforts to win settlement of the dispute between six shop craft unions and negotiators for most of the nation's railroads.

But as of late Friday night no face-to-face meeting between the two sides was in prospect. Federal Mediator Francis A. O'Neill was shuttling between union and carrier representatives searching for a common ground to make such a session possible.

"We would welcome an agreement," said union spokesman Michael Fox, who announced the strike call Friday. "We don't relish the idea of a strike but we have no alternative."

Chief Railroad Negotiator J. E. Wolfe also expressed hope for a settlement, saying a strike would be "devastating."

The only issue in the dispute is job security. This includes wage protection for railroad shop men who lose their jobs or suffer pay cuts because of technological improvements and other changes in rail operations.

There was no immediate sign that, as a last resort, President Johnson will step in as he did last April when five train operating unions threatened to shut down the nation's rail system.

Johnson reportedly has no desire to try for another White House settlement, but he is being kept informed of developments.

All procedures under the Railway Labor Act to delay a strike have expired, including establishment of a presidential emergency board. A board made job protection recommendations last month and both sides claimed they accepted them. They blamed each other for the deadlock.

Wolfe, chairman of the National Railway Labor Conference, said the strike call is in defiance of the public interest.

"Fox, president of the AFL-CIO Railway Employees' Department, said: 'Our duty to the employees as their collective bargaining representative leaves us no choice except to fix a strike date pursuant to the authorization to strike previously voted by them. We stand prepared to make a fair and equitable settlement, but as of now the strike date can no longer be postponed.'"

He set the strike deadline for 6 a.m. Tuesday, local time. Fox spoke for the six unions representing boiler makers, machinists, sheet metal workers, electrical workers, carmen and firemen and oilers.

Fox exempted from the strike call the Pennsylvania Railroad, with which he said an agreement had been reached, and the Southern Railway system and the Long Island Rail Road, where he said agreements are being worked out.

U.S. Catholic Bishops Organize

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The Roman Catholic bishops of the United States organized a drive today, sparked by Cardinal Cushing of Boston, to strengthen a Vatican Ecumenical Council declaration on Jews and keep another declaration on religious tolerance from possible weakening.

Almost 23 American bishops met quietly at the pontifical North American College and decided unanimously to organize a common stand on the Jewish and tolerance documents, with speakers to represent their joint view on the floor of St. Peter's Basilica when the two documents come up late this month.

The attitude of the American bishops on the Jewish declaration was that it should again contain, as it did in its original form of a year ago, specific mention that Jews do not carry the burden for the crucifixion but rather all mankind of all time.

Weather

Clear to partly cloudy with little temperature change today. Thunderstorms likely in west portion Sunday.

Strong Earthquake Felt in Hawaii

HILO, Hawaii (AP)—A strong earthquake followed by numerous lesser shocks, shook the big island of Hawaii today.

Scientists of the U.S. Geological Survey's volcano observatory went on the alert for possible eruption of Kilauea volcano.

Dr. H.A. Powers, in charge of the observatory, estimated the quake as of a magnitude of about five on the Richter Scale, big enough to cause damage in a populated area. Another quake later was estimated at about four on the Richter Scale.

In the News in Arkansas During Week

By WICK TEMPLE Associated Press Writer

Winthrop Rockefeller sat down at a desk before television cameras this week and set the tone of his gubernatorial campaign with a list of six issues on which he intends to attack Gov. Orval E. Faubus.

His issues are the sixth term, highways, education, civil rights, welfare and gambling.

Rockefeller's campaign opening television speech—decidedly unprofessional but, as one of his campaign aides put it, "homey"—was one of two big political events of the week in Arkansas.

The other was the 18-hour Arkansas tour of Democratic vice presidential candidate Hubert Humphrey, winding up at the state party convention at which Faubus formally accepted nomination to a sixth term.

Rockefeller said Faubus could not be trusted on his promise not to run for a seventh term, and raised the question of whether Faubus might swing in the Senate if Sen. J. William Fulbright is named secretary of state.

Faubus replied by saying that Arkansas' law does not permit such an appointment of the governor, and that Rockefeller was showing how little he knew about the law.

Rockefeller made an appearance with Barry Goldwater in Memphis Wednesday. It was hot and Winthrop was perspiring, and Goldwater remarked "You look like you swim across."

Rockefeller said Goldwater promised to campaign in Arkansas and that his aides were working on an Oct. 10 date so Goldwater could attend the National Cotton Picking Festival in Blytheville.

Faubus, meanwhile, prepared for an expected visit by President Johnson. Rep. J. W. Trimble said he, Faubus and others asked Johnson to stop in Fort Smith Sept. 25 to dedicate a historic park.

Johnson is scheduled to be in El Paso, Tex., that morning and at the Eufaula Dam dedication in Oklahoma that afternoon.

This announcement came shortly after Faubus endorsed the Johnson-Humphrey ticket, breaking a long silence on whom he would support. Later, he said party loyalty promoted him to do it, and he remarked, "I didn't have any choice."

Rockefeller said Faubus' endorsement of the Democratic ticket gave his candidacy a boost.

At McGehee, in a county committee meeting Tuesday, Faubus remarked that if demonstrators tried to lie in operations in Arkansas, they would be run over. He said that if no one else would do the job, "I'll jump in a truck and do it myself."

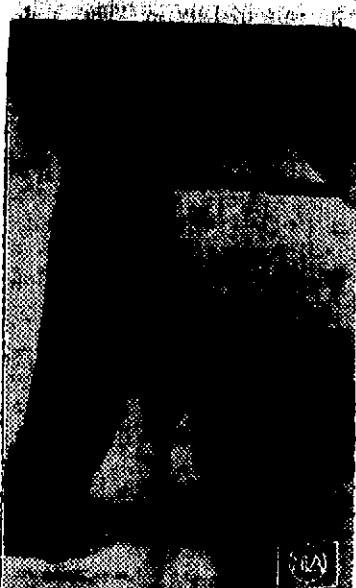

Rockefeller said he was shocked he was speechless, but others weren't.

I. S. McClinton, president of the Arkansas Democratic Voters Association, a Negro group, charged Faubus with encouraging murder and violence and with "feeding the people back in the rural communities this prejudice and hate, hoping that it might not reach the press."

An Episcopal Voice A 28-year-old minister raised the first clerical voice this week in favor of the proposed amendment to legalize gambling in Garland County. He is the Rev. James S. Cox Jr., vicar of Grace Episcopal Church in Pine Bluff.

Not only did Cox say he supported the amendment, he criticized the group called Churches United Against Gambling for what he called misrepresenting facts in an effort to defeat the amendment.

Ford, Union in Accord on Contracts

By A. F. MAHAN

DETROIT (AP)—Ford Motor Co. and the United Auto Workers reached agreement in principle today on a labor contract which parallels one attained by Chrysler and the UAW last week.

The agreement came less than an hour before a 10 a.m. strike deadline.

Malcolm Denise, Ford vice president, said the agreement provides for substantially improved retirement benefits, earlier retirement, more paid relief time, an additional week of vacation, improvement factor and other pay increases, two more paid holidays, cost-of-living allowance, broadened insurance and health benefits, and other improvements.

Denise said "The agreement provides for wage and benefit increases closely comparable to those already agreed upon by Chrysler Corp. and the union. It therefore insures that Ford will remain fully competitive with respect to wages and benefits for hourly workers."

Ford said the early retirement program could, as at Chrysler, under certain circumstances, give a worker taking early retirement company benefits of as much as $400 a month.

Nine cents of the current 14 cents cost-of-living allowance will be frozen into the hourly base rate.

The maximum regular weekly payments under the supplemental unemployment benefit plan will be increased from $40 to $50 plus $1.50 for each of up to four dependents.

The company also granted a Christmas bonus under certain circumstances. When the supplemental unemployment benefit fund reaches the point where further contributions by the company are not required, the company-paid five cents per hour per employee will go instead into a Christmas bonus fund. All hourly employees covered by the sub plan with more than one year's seniority will share equally in payouts from the Christmas bonus fund beginning in 1966, if there is enough money in the fund to give each eligible employee a minimum of $25.

In September 1966, the annual improvement factor will go from 2.5 per cent of an employee's base hourly wage rate to 2.8 per cent, or seven cents an hour, whichever is greater.

An additional two cents an hour will be added to base hourly wage rates effective Sept. 5, 1966, after base hourly rates have been adjusted by the improvement factor increase on that date.

There will be no general wage increase in 1964, but employees will receive the equivalent of about a one per cent increase starting next month when the company will begin paying the full cost of premiums for group life and disability insurance.

Ford will pay full cost of hospital-surgical-medical insurance coverage for retired employees and their eligible dependents beginning with coverage for the month of November this year.

There still was no word from Chrysler, where 7,000 union-represented office workers and engineering personnel were threatening to walk out at 10 a.m. EST.

Secrecy Clamp on Shooting in Gulf of Tonkin

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. government, operating behind a secrecy screen, sought today to determine whether two U.S. destroyers patrolling the Gulf of Tonkin fired at phantom or at threatening Communist North Vietnamese torpedo boats.

The North Vietnamese foreign ministry claimed two destroyers were in action Friday near a place called Nghe An, that "heavy explosions were heard and flashes of light and aircraft circling over the spot were seen from the shore."

A New China News Agency report from Hanoi placed the scene 60 miles off Nghe An and two U.S. warships "active" Friday evening and at daybreak Saturday.

In a statement broadcast by Red China's official news agency, the North Vietnamese mentioned nothing about any of their units being involved. The Communists denied they provoked the incident and accused the United States of trying to create an excuse for attacking North Viet Nam.

Prior to the North Vietnamese statement, U.S. sources had said two destroyers steaming in the darkened and overcast Gulf of Tonkin had opened fire on what they thought were Communist torpedo boats closing to attack.

The destroyers did not report seeing any craft, according to informants, but said they observed what appeared to be hostile craft on radar several miles away.

The sources said that in reports to the Pentagon — reports described as garbled — the U.S. warships did not say they were fired on, as were other U.S. destroyers in clashes Aug. 2 and 4. Those earlier clashes brought down swift U.S. retaliation on Red PT boat bases and oil dumps.

The U.S. carrier-launched air strikes were said to have destroyed about half of Red Viet Nam's 50 torpedo boats.

Despite strong pressure from newsmen the government refused Friday to go beyond a 55-word statement by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara.

The White House and State Department remained silent, although there was a notable lack of crisis atmosphere there and in the Pentagon, too, as the day wore on.

Mrs. Johnson Makes First Political Talk

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson made her first formal campaign speech today — a call to arms for the "great society" and a denial that it is a political gimmick.

"I do not think only Democrats dream of the great society," she said of her husband's professed goal for America.

"However, I do believe that since the days of the depression and war, it has been the leaders of the Democratic party who have been most practical and persistent in taking the necessary steps to achieve it."

As the nation's First Lady saw it: The "great society" calls for "imaginative planning at the top; legislation to set up the machinery. But — then — most of all, people in action in their communities to bring it to the hometown of America."

In her speech prepared for delivery at a luncheon meeting of the Federated Democratic Women of Ohio, Mrs. Johnson remarked that "some people have interpreted my husband's 'great society' as a campaign promise."

"Nothing can be so far from the truth," she declared, adding: "No one can give you a 'great society' — all in a neat little package and delivered at your doorsteps. Presidents can inspire it, strive for it, and, with Congress, set the designs on the drawing boards. But people like you must give it life."

The First Lady went to Akron Thursday and spent today in Columbus. She flies back to Washington tonight.

Her Akron visit proved she has two solid requirements for politics — a sturdy hand and a pair of comfortable shoes.

Agriculture Program Hit by Goldwater

By WALTER R. MEARS

BUFFALO, N.D. (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater denounced the Democrats' agricultural programs today and promised farmers "I will stop this bureaucratic meddling in your private affairs."

As for world affairs, the Republican presidential nominee declared: "We have to undo all the horrible bungling of the last four years that has brought this country to war."

"Our country has lost the peace — the peace left to it by the Eisenhower administration."

Goldwater said "We are at war because of a policy of weakness, a policy of indecision, a policy of indirection. I say and you say let's put an end to this tragic mess."

Goldwater said repeatedly that the struggle against Communist guerrillas in South Viet Nam is, in fact, a war.

In a speech prepared for delivery at the National Plowing Contest, Goldwater said, "The nation would be a lot better off if our interim President would quit trying to run your farms and instead clean out his own stables."

"At least then his confused running mate, Hubert Horatio Humphrey, wouldn't have to sidestep so many issues."

Humphrey also has a speaking date today at the plowing contest.

"We pledge a farm program good for the farmer, good for the rancher, good for the nation," Goldwater said. "We support the Republican farm platform plank by plank."

The GOP platform promises "development of truly voluntary commodity programs for commercial agriculture" along with "price supports free of political manipulation in order to stimulate and attain fair market prices."

Goldwater said farm income should be improved — but not with "arbitrary handouts subject to the whim and caprice" of secretary of agriculture Orville L. Freeman.

Aside from his endorsement of the GOP farm plank, Goldwater did not spell out his solution to agricultural problems. In Raleigh, N.C., last Wednesday he talked about curtailment of farm price supports and control over a period of five to 10 years.

But most of Goldwater's farm country speech was aimed at foreign policy and what he called "peace through preparedness, not war through weakness."

If Retiring, Start S. S. Claim Early

Did you know that your social security work records are kept in Baltimore, Maryland and not in your local social security office?

Your local office must obtain these records in order to answer questions about the amount of your social security benefit.

For this reason, Mr. Blackwood, social security district manager in Texarkana, recommends that persons expecting to retire this year get in touch with their social security office by telephone or mail as much as 3 months prior to the date of their retirement.

A telephone call or letter made ahead of time will allow your local office to get your earnings records from Baltimore and to tell you what proofs you will need to support your claim. When the records arrive, you will be notified to come to the district office to discuss filing your claim for social security benefits. By this date, you will have had time to get your required proofs and the social security office will be ready and expecting you.

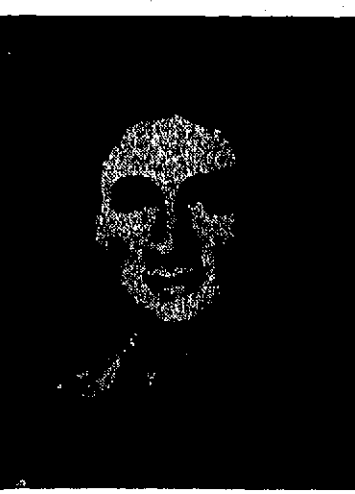

If you are planning to retire soon, call your social security office even sooner. You will not only insure the receipt of your first check on time, but may also avoid making unnecessary trips to the office.

Get in touch with your social security office at Texarkana, Texas, or telephone 792-2735.

Represents 111 Years Service

Marcus Lambert

Joe C. Lambert

Oliver G. Lambert By MARY ANITA LASETER Star Feature Writer

During this Constitution Week it is fitting to honor the Lambert family, originally of Washington, which has four brothers who have done much to preserve the rights and privileges set forth in our Constitution. They have given of their time and talent in service with the Army, the Navy, and the Air Force for a total, to date, of 111 years.

The oldest brother, Marcus, now lives in Pine Beach, N. J. He enlisted in the Navy at 15 years of age, and during a total of 31 years he served aboard 15 vessels, was stationed at Norfolk, Va., and Pearl Harbor, and saw action in the Pacific Theater during WW II. His list of medals attest to his good service record as does his rise in rank through the years. He enlisted on May 12, 1919, rose steadily to Lieutenant Commander in January 1949, and retired in June 1950.

The second brother, Joe Calvin, is really first, in rank anyway. That is because in October 1961 he became Adjutant General of the U. S. Army. He is a Major General now but he started his military career as an enlisted man in 1925. A sketch of his career appeared in the Hope Star two years ago, and it told of his service in the European Theater during WW II, and at the Nuernberg war trials afterwards. Every Arkansan can certainly be proud of this native son.

Oliver G. Lambert, the third brother, had great ideas of big planes when he was a boy. He used to sit in school and draw pictures of airplanes, like a lot of boys do, but he went much farther with his dreams than many. He enlisted in the regular army in June 1927, and served in various parts of the U. S. as well as the Canal Zone and Italy. He was a boxer and athletic instructor for the Army. He had gone from the Infantry to the Cavalry to the Air Corps.

Presbyterian Women End Year's Study

The adult members of the First Presbyterian Church have just completed a year's basic study of the Covenant Life Curriculum, the new approach to Christian Education being offered to six denominations in the United States of the Presbyterian and Reformed tradition.

This educational program is to be used in the future by all age groups in the local Presbyterian Church. Nine Covenant Life Curriculum Previews are being held in the Synod of Arkansas during the month of September to present this program to the membership of the Churches, especially teachers and officers of the Sunday School.

On Thursday night, September 17th, one of these Classes was conducted at the Magnolia, Ark., Church from 5:30 p.m. until 10:00 p.m.

The following members of the Hope Church drove to Magnolia to attend this Preview: Dr. and Mrs. L. T. Lawrence, Mrs. Fred Ellis, Mrs. W. E. Waller, Mrs. Crit Stuart, Jr., Mrs. Hamilton Hanagan and Mrs. Jim McKenzie.

during his period of service which ended in June 1945. He was a civilian less than a year and enlisted in the Air Force in March, 1946. He was retired a Master Sergeant in June, 1953, and now lives in Fort Worth.

The Lambert boys believed in joining the service at an early age. The youngest, Walter S. Lambert, Jr., joined the Army in April 1931 at the age of 15. He served in different parts of the U. S. and saw the Japanese demonstrate in Honolulu before the attack. He served as an instructor in a motor school at Ft. Knox, Ky., and was discharged May 5, 1943, for certified disability in line of duty. Unfortunately, his work had to be curtailed after 12 years of service. He now lives in Little Rock.

The parents of the Lambert brothers are both deceased, but two sisters who are quite proud of them, are responsible for the research and pictures for this article. They are Mrs. C. L. Grimes of Mineral Springs and Mrs. Tom Rexroat of Hope.

Tax Relief Brought No Wild Spree

By ADREN COOPER

WASHINGTON (AP) — There was no stampede to the stores last spring when the income tax cut took effect, but there is strong evidence that Americans have been spending an increasing percentage of the extra money in the past few weeks.

"We know that July and August will show a significant increase in the proportion of money spent," a government official said today, "but we're not making any estimate yet."

Consumers spent about 52 per cent of the extra money they received during the first three months the tax reduction was fully effective — April, May and June.

This may seem an irrelevant figure to the wage earner who had a hard time making ends meet, even with a few extra dollars. But it is watched closely by economists, most of whom assumed the tax cut would provide an important stimulus to business.

Increased purchases by the consumer inevitably lead to expanded production at the factory level, and therefore, more jobs and profits.

Administration economists argued that consumers normally spend 92 to 94 per cent of every dollar they can lay their hands on, and that this proportion of the increase in take home pay would be put immediately into the spending stream.

Since consumers spent only about half the extra money, the percentage of their total income which was spent fell to 91.8 per cent.

This was pointed out in speeches by Richard H. Holton, assistant secretary of commerce for economic affairs, and C. Canby Balderston, a member of the Federal Reserve Board. Holton noted that the rate of spending often is low in the

Raymond Clark Charged in Bank Shortage

Raymond Clark, 30, assistant cashier of First National Bank, was taken into custody by FBI Agents late yesterday and charged with converting to his own use $4,000 in bank funds. Although suspected late Thursday the theft wasn't actually verified until Friday morning.

Clark was arraigned in U.S. District Court at Texarkana late Friday and was released on $1,000 bond.

A native of Hempstead, he had been an employee of the bank for the past eight years.

"It is regrettable and disappointing that a long time, trusted employee broke that trust," said Lloyd Spencer, president of First National.

Mr. Spencer indicated there would be no loss to the bank as the firm carried well over a million dollars in insurance. The investigation continues.

Barry Calls Opponent a Wild Spender

By WALTER R. MEARS

LONGVIEW, Tex. (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater staging his first campaign foray in President Johnson's home state, charged today the Democratic chief executive is "the wildest spender of them all."

"The man who promised to save us millions is putting us deeper in debt by billions," the Republican presidential nominee declared in a speech prepared for delivery in this east Texas town.

With stops here, in Springfield, Mo.; Evansville, Ind.; and Charleston, W. Va., the Arizona senator winds up a four-day swing that has taken him into eight Southern states.

Beside him, before cheering Southern crowds, stood South Carolina Sen. Strom Thurmond, newly enlisted in the Republican cause.

Thurmond joined forces with Goldwater in Greenville, S.C., Thursday, and tossed warmup shots at the Democrats before crowds in Shreveport, La., and New Orleans.

Slapping Johnson in his home territory, Goldwater accused the President of "campaigning for the presidency on the basis of two absolutely false claims."

He said the President claims his administration is cutting federal spending and holding down the government payroll.

"Nothing could be further from the truth," Goldwater said. "This administration is trying to deceive the American people."

Under Johnson, he said, spending is going up and the federal payroll has mounted by 18,339 people.

"So far this year he has spent $10 million a day more than was spent by President Kennedy," Goldwater said.

"While we talk, every four minutes, Lyndon buys another person on the federal payroll," he added.

Goldwater said many people gave Johnson "their support because of his supposed frugality, his supposed concern for the public payroll."

"The claim was false," he said.

Goldwater winged south from Greenville Thursday after a hasty departure, speeded up because his aides feared an unruly crowd of about 15,000 people would break through police lines and mob this nominee.

Paul F. Wagner, press secretary, said that concern led Goldwater to call off an appearance at an airport reception there.

A crowd of about 25,000 to 30,000 turned out in New Orleans Tulane Stadium Thursday night to hear Goldwater accuse Johnson of trying to cover up the Bobby Baker case and anything else that might embarrass him with "tidal waves of white-wash."

"Bobby Baker haunts this election," Goldwater said. "Bobby Baker haunts the White House itself."

He said Americans want the case "opened up wide. One man stands in the way. Lyndon Baines Johnson."

Negro Rightest Meets the Pope

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Dr. Martin Luther King and Pope Paul VI conferred today for 25 minutes in a Vatican meeting that emphasized Roman Catholicism's stand on racism.

After the audience, Dr. King said the Pope promised to ally himself to a peaceful solution for the U.S. racial conflict, but opposed violence.

There was no Vatican statement, but the very fact that Pope Paul granted such an audience and spent so much time with the American Negro leader, was indicative of the Vatican attitude. Private audiences are rare, and often last barely 10 minutes.

Before calling at the Vatican at sunset, the 5-year-old Baptist minister said he hoped Pope Paul would follow up the meeting with a statement reiterating the Vatican's stand against racism.

April-June period. He said there usually is a slight lag between an increase in personal income and increased spending.

Balderston put it this way: "As consumers become accustomed to a little fatter take-home pay, they are likely to increase their spending, and there is some indication that this adjustment has been occurring during the summer months."

The fact that consumers spent 91.8 per cent of their take-home pay does not mean that all of the remaining 8.2 per cent went into savings accounts. There was no massive increase in savings of this type.

The "savings" took the form of paying off some debts — although there was no great reluctance to take on new installment obligations — and purchases of stocks and mutual fund shares.

Sunday sermon and to newsmen Monday. A quick reply came from the Rev. Erwin L. McDonald, editor of the Arkansas Baptist Newsmagazine who wrote that it was difficult for him to understand how a Christian can know what gambling is and vote for legalizing it.

Cox said some Christians are opposed to gambling and some are not. He said he supported the amendment because he considers gambling a reality and believes it should be controlled.

He said he resented being pressured by CUAG and he pointed out that CUAG includes not all churches, but only Baptists, Methodists, Presbyterians, and members of the Assemblies of God and Christian churches.

C. W. Ellis, chairman of the board of deacons of the Chickasaw Baptist Church in McGeehe, followed with a statement that churches should stay out of the fight against the amendment, and his church adopted a resolution to that effect.

Dr. Ralph Phelps, president of CUAG and of Ouachita Baptist College, said a rumor was circulating that his group was a front organization to try to defeat Faubus. He said the rumor is not true, and he charged that it was spread by promoters of legalized gambling.

The Arkansas Supreme Court turned down a plea by McDonald and others that the gambling amendment be thrown out of the ballot because it is misleading.

Capital Counterfeiters
Three state Highway Department employees were charged this week with making counterfeit one and 10 dollar bills inside the state Capitol with the department's reproduction equipment. A fourth man was charged with possessing the currency.

The three were reproduction department technicians — Don B. Aley, David Lee Johnson and Robert W. Allen. The Secret Service said the money apparently had not gotten into circulation.

Wedding Vows Are Repeated

Mrs. Howard Glenn Nichols, Jr.

Miss Martha Jean Page became the bride of Howard Glenn Nichols, Jr. at three o'clock Saturday, September 12th at the Heritage House. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Larence Page and the bridegroom is the son of Howard Glenn Nichols of Pine Bluff and the late Mrs. Nichols.

The Reverend Roy I. Bagley officiated at the double-ring ceremony before a mantel decorated with white gladioli, greenery, and white lighted tapers. Nuptial music was presented by Miss Dora Ann King.

Miss Patti Page, sister of the bride, and Joe Nichols, brother of the bridegroom, lighted the candles. A reading of I Corinthians 13 was given by Jane Grigg.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride descended the stairs wearing a floor-length gown of imported silk organza over taffeta, featuring a sculptured bodice and bateau neckline enhanced with lace appliques encrusted with seed pearls. The bouffant overskirt swept into a cathedral train. Her illusion veil was held by a cluster of silk organza roses. Her bouquet, fashioned of white roses, was carried on an heirloom mother-of-pearl Bible.

Miss Mary Alice Caston, the bride's only attendant, wore a street-length dress of jade crepe designed with a V-neckline and featuring a shaped waist with an empire effect. Her hat was a small pill box of crepe with a matching veil. She carried a long-stem rose. Miss Patti Page, candlelighter, was similarly attired.

Jim Conner of Arkadelphia served as best man. Charles Nichols, brother of the bridegroom, served as usher.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Page chose a dress of cranberry crepe with complementary accessories. Her corsage was of white rosebuds.

The reception was held in the dining room following the ceremony. The bride's table was covered with a cloth of white satin and net accented with an arrangement of white stocks and white tapers in candelabra. Assisting with the serving were Mrs. Joe Hankins, Miss Jenni Cox, and Miss Janey Voss. The bride's book was attended by Miss Barbara Reese.

For travel the bride wore a green two-piece crepe suit with brown accessories and pinned the white roses from her bouquet at her shoulder.

The couple will be at home at 411 W. Gray Street, Houston 19, Texas, where the bridegroom is employed by the J. C. Penny Company and the bride will continue her studies.

Out-of-town guests attending were Mrs. Bertha Page of North Little Rock; H. G. Nichols of Pine Bluff; the Rev. and Mrs. Charles Conner and Mike of Arkadelphia; and A. H. Bumgardner of Fordyce.

"DEAR ABBY"

A LIGHT REIN FOR TEENERS

By Abigail Van Buren

Dear Abby: My mother died when I was eight months old and I live with my father and my grandmother. They are good to me and I love them very much, but, Abby, I am almost 13 years old, am in the eighth grade and I have to go to school with my hair above my ears. I am not allowed to wear the latest styles in clothes, either. I feel so funny, in my old-fashioned clothes and this little girl haircut when all the other girls my age have new-style clothes and long hair. I am naturally on the quiet side and I don't make friends very easily, and looking like a freak makes matters worse. I am an honor student and I am not boy crazy. Will you please say something in your column about man who was acquitted of a similar offense in Massachusetts a year ago.

Jackie Lee Wood, 22, of Springdale, faced a first degree murder charge after an investigation so secret that Police Chief R. E. Brians wouldn't even say who found the body. About all officers would say was that the girl was found strangled in Wood's motel room and that Wood denied killing her.

Brians added, however, that Wood's fingerprints checked with those of a Jackie Lee Wood found innocent in New Bedford, Mass., on March 21, 1963, in the strangulation of a waitress.

Bob Thomas at the Movies

AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — How does an actress play a television vampire in Donna Reed style? Yvonne de Carlo is finding out. Yvonne is one of television's two ghoulfriends for the coming season. The other is Carolyn Jones, the monster's matriarch of "The Addams Family."

The role of Lily in "The Munsters" has baffled Yvonne — the character so named because she sleeps with arms folded coffin-style, a lily on her chest.

"I had misgivings when I was told about the role," said Yvonne, who's noted for her glamor roles. "After all, I didn't want to destroy whatever image I had established. So I asked the makeup man what the makeup was supposed to be."

"He told me the character would have a green face, hollow cheeks, etc. Then I became more worried. But I decided to try the test, figuring I would also be testing the role to see if I wanted to do it."

"But when I appeared for the test, I found out I was one of nine girls testing, and we had to sign options that we would accept the role. Now I really was worried. I decided all I could do was put my trust in my agent, and he wanted me to do it."

She was perplexed about how to play a vampire — she had escaped the horror epics during her decade at Universal.

"They told me to play her just like Donna Reed," said Yvonne. "That sounded strange to me until I tried it. Now it works. She acts just like any housewife. The difference is in her approach to things, as when she tells her little child to go to bed, 'And don't forget to close your lid.'"

The makeup turned out to her satisfaction. She wears floor-length black hair — gray-streaked with a widow's peak, of course. Her complexion is a faint green, but it shows up as dead white on the screen. She was pleased when some young visitors to the set commented how glamorous she looked.

has been calling me up and asking me for the same reason. I would like to know how I can prove to this boy that I'm not the kind of girl he thinks I am.

NOT THAT KIND
Dear Not: It won't be easy to "prove" to a boy that you aren't the kind of girl who goes "a little too far" after you've already been there. Your only hope is to tell him emphatically that you both misbehaved before and you do not intend to repeat it. So if that's the reason he is pursuing you, he can forget it.

Dear Abby: My parents were divorced two years ago. Six months ago my father remarried. I am 14 and I live with my mother, but my father and his new wife invite me to visit them on their farm every week-end. I love my mother and I love my father, too, and I also think a lot of my father's new wife because she has been very nice to me. But I feel like a traitor every time I go to visit them because my mother says it tears her apart every time I go there. My mother asked me if I would go to spend the week-end with my father and his wife, if they lived in a little apartment like she does. I guess I wouldn't. Do you think I am wrong to go to the farm on week-ends? How can I get over feeling like a traitor?

Dear Abby: I wouldn't label you a "traitor" for visiting your father. Your mother may have her reasons for feeling bitter, but these reasons have nothing to do with you, so don't take sides. Visit your father and enjoy those visits.

Troubled? Write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Open-mouthed astonishment dropped Flawrence's jaw. He stood there ludicrously turning it over.

Then he yanked his jaw shut, eyes narrowing in disbelief. "An' why would they do a fool thing like that?"

"Sam didn't say, though I reckon he knows or he wouldn't have sent me out here to handle it." While that was sinking in, Ives demanded abruptly: "How many hands can we count on if there's trouble?"

Out of his confusion the man growled distractedly, "Ain't no body here but me an' the cook. All the—"

"No matter," Ives grunted. "I don't count on no trouble a bullet can't stop," and eyed the man darkly.

Like that they stayed, Ives in the saddle, Renwick's understrapper still on the porch, fuming, feeling put upon, but too hemmed with doubts to give his spleen free rein. It went without saying he didn't care for any part of this but couldn't bring himself faced with such assurance, to believe Ives' claims to have been cut from whole cloth.

Ives, sensing his dilemma, briskly swung from the horse and mounted the steps, making for the open door. "You can grain him but leave the saddle on, and no water till he's cooled," he said, pushing past the man. Then, over his shoulder: "An' tell that cook to rustle over some grub."

He went into the house, not waiting for any backchat.

Prowling the place he found the ranch ledgers, he pulled a comfortable chair up against a blank wall, and, commanding both doors, sat down to wait, reasonably confident he had Ed Flawrence pegged. What ever the man's reservation, he was obviously reluctant to initiate action which might bring down the wrath of his quick-tempered boss.

If Ives was going to save Juke he had to make this bluff stick. He dared not count on the horse breeder's promise. French might or be able to find the right men, might not try. If he was one of the three who had stopped that stage, he'd have other, more urgent, tasks lined up.

Ives did not really believe it was French. The man did not look hungry or desperate enough seeming too fat for that kind of life, a rogue of sorts, perhaps, but...

This Flawrence, he thought, came nearer the type, an obvious gunslick, not overburdened with brains or scruples. But if French had been a part of that business Juke's daddy was as good as dead right now. And, with him, all proof, including any likelihood of Frank Ives ever seeing that payroll again.

Booted feet crossed the porch with a rattle of spurs, Flawrence's face and hunched shape looming dark in the door.

The man, taking a grip on the doorframe, cried: "You're not here by chance!"

"You know I'm not," Ives looked at him sourly. "I've a job to do and I intend to do it—with your help or without. Now tell that cook to get some grub!"

Hoofs flogged across the length of the yard, weirdly muted as they tore through the dust, striking hard and fast as they came onto the hardpan, swiftly diminishing, gobbled by distance while the looks and wills of these two locked and clashed.

"So," Ives said, very thinly, soft, "you couldn't send the hand. You had to play that cook tearin' off to Terrapin."

The man in the door let out a great gust of breath. His raw-boned fist where it gripped the frame turned white round the knuckles, and he cried: "You're doggone right! We'll see mighty soon how big you are!"

"You don't have to wait for Sam to learn that."

Flecks of green showed up in Flawrence's fat-yellow stare, but the man shook his head. "I can wait," he said.

Throwing down the ledgers Ives rocked to his feet, taking a couple of worried turns about the room. If there were only some way of grabbing time by the forelock! Short of shooting the guy, Ives was stuck with this now, immobilized here until Juke showed with the cattle. If he showed.

And if Renwick showed first—He strode over to a window facing the yard, expressionlessly considering the poles of the corral. Flawrence came from the bunkhouse with a rifle in his hands and took up a stand in the doorway of the stable, looking back at the house with an air of satisfaction.

Ives thought out his position and found nothing good about it. This whole deal now was strung together with ifs. If Juke came in time. If Jerre French got here with the men he had promised. If Juke's crew hadn't bolted or taken the cows away from him.

Negro Rightest Meets the Pope
VATICAN CITY (AP) — Dr. Martin Luther King and Pope Paul VI conferred today for 25 minutes in a Vatican meeting that emphasized Roman Catholicism's stand on racism.

After the audience, Dr. King said the Pope promised to ally himself to a peaceful solution for the U.S. racial conflict, but opposed violence.

There was no Vatican statement, but the very fact that Pope Paul granted such an audience and spent so much time with the American Negro leader, was indicative of the Vatican attitude. Private audiences are rare, and often last barely 10 minutes.

Before calling at the Vatican at sunset, the 5-year-old Baptist minister said he hoped Pope Paul would follow up the meeting with a statement reiterating the Vatican's stand against racism.

Tax Relief

April-June period. He said there usually is a slight lag between an increase in personal income and increased spending.

Balderston put it this way: "As consumers become accustomed to a little fatter take-home pay, they are likely to increase their spending, and there is some indication that this adjustment has been occurring during the summer months."

The fact that consumers spent 91.8 per cent of their take-home pay does not mean that all of the remaining 8.2 per cent went into savings accounts. There was no massive increase in savings of this type.

The "savings" took the form of paying off some debts — although there was no great reluctance to take on new installment obligations — and purchases of stocks and mutual fund shares.

In the News

Sunday sermon and to newsmen Monday. A quick reply came from the Rev. Erwin L. McDonald, editor of the Arkansas Baptist Newsmagazine who wrote that it was difficult for him to understand how a Christian can know what gambling is and vote for legalizing it.

Cox said some Christians are opposed to gambling and some are not. He said he supported the amendment because he considers gambling a reality and believes it should be controlled.

He said he resented being pressured by CUAG and he pointed out that CUAG includes not all churches, but only Baptists, Methodists, Presbyterians, and members of the Assemblies of God and Christian churches.

C. W. Ellis, chairman of the board of deacons of the Chickasaw Baptist Church in McGee, followed with a statement that churches should stay out of the fight against the amendment, and his church adopted a resolution to that effect.

Dr. Ralph Phelps, president of CUAG and of Ouachita Baptist College, said a rumor was circulating that his group was a front organization to try to defeat Pabst. He said the rumor was not true, and he charged that it was spread by promoters of legalized gambling.

The Arkansas Supreme Court turned down a plea by McDonald and others that the gambling amendment be thrown off the ballot because it is misleading.

Capitol Counterfeiters
Three state Highway Department employees were charged this week with making counterfeit one and ten dollar bills inside the state Capitol with the department's reproduction equipment. A fourth man was charged with possessing the currency.

The three were reproduction department technicians — Don B. Aley, David Lee Johnson and Robert W. Allen. The Secret Service said the money apparently had not gotten into circulation.

Of Violent Death
Pretty 17-year-old Pamela Ann King was found strangled in a downtown Little Rock motel room Wednesday, and police charged the slaying to a young man who was a frequent customer of the motel.

er, was indicative of the Vatican attitude. Private audiences are rare, and often last barely 10 minutes.

Wedding Vows Are Repeated

Mrs. Howard Glenn Nichols, Jr.

Miss Martha Jean Page became the bride of Howard Glenn Nichols, Jr. at three o'clock Saturday, September 12th at the Heritage House. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Lawrence Page and the bridegroom is the son of Howard Glenn Nichols of Pine Bluff and the late Mrs. Nichols.

The Reverend Roy I. Bagley officiated at the double-ring ceremony before a mantel decorated with white gladioli, greenery, and white lighted tapers. Nuptial music was presented by Miss Dora Ann King.

Miss Patti Page, sister of the bride, and Joe Nichols, brother of the bridegroom, lighted the candles. A reading of I Corinthians 13 was given by Jane Grigg.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride descended the stairs wearing a floor-length gown of imported silk organza over tulle, featuring a sculptured bodice and bateau neckline enhanced with lace applique encrusted with seed pearls. The bouffant overskirt swept into a cathedral train. Her illusion veil was held by a cluster of silk organza roses. Her bouquet, fashioned of white roses, was carried on an heirloom mother-of-pearl handle.

a small pill box of crepe with a matching veil. She carried a long-stem rose. Miss Patti Page, candlelighter, was similarly attired.

Jim Conner of Arkadelphia served as best man. Charles Nichols, brother of the bridegroom, served as usher.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Page chose a dress of cranberry crepe with complementary accessories. Her corsage was of white rosebuds.

The reception was held in the dining room following the ceremony. The bride's table was covered with a cloth of white satin and net accented with an arrangement of white stocks and white tapers in candelabra. Assisting with the serving were Mrs. Joe Hankins, Miss Jennifer Cox, and Miss Janey Voss. The bride's book was attended by Miss Barbara Reese.

For travel the bride wore a green two-piece crepe suit with brown accessories and pinned the white roses from her bouquet at her shoulder.

The couple will be at home at 411 W. Gray Street, Houston 19, Texas, where the bridegroom is employed by the J. C. Penny Company and the bride will continue her studies.

Out-of-town guests attending were Mrs. Bertha Page of North Little Rock; H. G. Nichols of Pine Bluff; the Rev. and Mrs. Charles Conner and Mike of Arkadelphia; and A. H. Bumgardner of Fordyce.

I had established. So I asked the makeup man what the makeup was supposed to be.

"He told me the character

would have a green face, hollow cheeks, etc. Then I became more worried. But I decided to try the test, figuring I would also be testing the role to see if I wanted to do it.

"But when I appeared for the test, I found out I was one of nine girls testing, and we had to sign options that we would accept the role. Now I really was worried. I decided all I could do was put my trust in my agent, and he wanted me to do it."

She was perplexed about how to play a vampire — she had escaped the horror epics during her decade at Universal.

"They told me to play her just like Donna Reed," said Yvonne.

"That sounded strange to me until I tried it. Now it works.

She acts just like any housewife.

The difference is in her approach to things, as when she tells her little child to go to bed,

"And don't forget to close your lid." The makeup turned out to her satisfaction. She wears floor-length black hair — gray-streaked with a widow's peak, of course. Her complexion is a faint green, but it shows up as dead white on the screen. She was pleased when some young visitors to the set commented how glamorous she looked.

Open-mouthed astonishment dropped Lawrence's jaw. He stood there ludicrously turning it over.

Then he yanked his jaw shut, eyes narrowing in disbelief.

"An' why would they do a fool thing like that?"

"Sam didn't say, though I reckon he knows or he wouldn't have sent me out here to handle it." While that was sinking in, Ives demanded abruptly: "How many hands can we count on if there's trouble?"

Out of his confusion the man

growled distractedly, "Ain't no body here but me an' the cook.

All the—"

"No matter," Ives grunted.

"I don't count on no trouble a bullet can't stop," and eyed the man darkly.

Like that they stayed, Ives in the saddle, Renwick's under-strapper still on the porch, fuming, feeling put upon, but too hemmed with doubts to give his spleen free rein. It went without saying he didn't care for any part of this but couldn't bring himself faced with such assurance, to believe Ives' claims to have been cut from whole cloth.

Ives, sensing his dilemma,

briskly swung from the horse and mounted the steps, making for the open door. "You can grain him but leave the saddle on, and no water till he's cooled," he said, pushing past the man. Then, over his shoulder:

"An' tell that cook to rustle over some grub."

He went into the house, not waiting for any backchat.

Prowling the place he found the ranch ledgers, he pulled a comfortable chair up against a blank wall, and, commanding

both doors, sat down to wait, reasonably confident he had

Ed Lawrence pegged. Whatever the man's reservation, he was obviously reluctant to in-itate action which might bring down the wrath of his quick-tempered boss.

If Ives was going to save Jupe

he had to make this bluff stick.

He dared not count on the horse

breeder's promise. French might of be able to find the right men, might not try. If he was one of the three who had

Bobcats Down DeQueen by a 19 to 14 Score

By CARTER HARDAGE Hope Star SportsWriter

Staving off a desperate attempt for a comeback, the Bobcats caged the tough DeQueen Leopards 19-14 last night in Hammons Stadium.

Led by Quarterback Richard Knight, the Leopards came within five points of Hope during the closing minutes of the third period, but ball control and an alert Bobcat defense doused any chance of a come-from-behind victory by DeQueen.

The entire first quarter was nothing more than a chance for the punters to exercise their talent.

In the closing seconds, however, Ronnie Ingram intercepted a pass on the Leopard 35 and battered his way in to the 15. After a pass from Buddy Jordan to Stan Parris and a run by Vince Massanelli moved the ball to the 4, the quarter changed.

Massanelli took it around the right end for the required yardage, and Hope went up on the new scoreboard 6-0. Point after attempt by Burnett failed.

The next Bobcat pounce came with 6:25 to go in the half. Unable to move, the Leopards boomed a punt from deep in their own territory to Hope's Jerry Burnett, waiting on his own 25. Using the skillfully laid blocks of his teammates to the best advantage, Burnett raced downfield past Massanelli, who took out the last defender and left the road to paydirt open. An attempt to run the PAT failed, and the score stood 12-0 at the half.

Although ahead by two TD's the Bobcats had racked up only 43 yards total offense in the first half. DeQueen had 82.

The Leopards came back for the last half really ready to play some football. They mounted two separate drives, but both were stopped before they materialized into serious threats. The first was stopped short when Ingram intercepted another pass his third interception in the last two games.

DeQueen's second attempt floundered when Knight was raked up behind the line of scrimmage and lost the mauling to the anxious hands of Tommy Still.

Jordan ran for nine on the next play, and then sprang Parris pen down the middle where he zeroed in and let Parris flat outrun his defender to the goal. Burnett kicked the extra point, which hit the crossbar and bounced over, and Hope was out in front 19-0. There was 6:39 left in the third quarter.

On the ensuing kick, the Bobcats tried an on-sides kick, but it didn't go the required ten yards, and DeQueen merely got the ball a little closer to the goal.

The Leopards didn't find the going too easy, nevertheless. They came to a fourth and four situation on the Bobcat 42 but elected to try for the first down. Knight not only got the four, but kept going to the 32.

Two plays and king-size penalties moved DeQueen into the Bobcat 12, and that was close enough. The next play Knight ripped through the middle of the Bobcats to the goal. End Kent Doss kicked the Leopards to 19-7 with slightly less than three minutes in the third quarter.

The Bobcats were unable to move the ball and punted out. Knight was waiting on his own 35. After a running catch he faked to the other safety and took off. He was caught only after he had scampered all the way to the 10. Here he was overtaken by Burnett who had already been blocked out of the play twice. Knight was shaken up a bit by his encounter, but not enough to be taken out of the game for long.

He turned over quarterbacking duties to the 110-pound Murray Neely, who can throw either right or left-handed. He had opportunity to do neither, however, for Danny Pike sliced over left tackle in two more plays for the tally. Doss again added the point, and the 19-14 lead began to look just a little slim.

The fourth quarter began and the 12 minutes began to pass very, very slowly.

DeQueen was unable to mount an offensive, and the Cats just held on to the ball and ran the clock out. When the time was gone, they were poised on the DeQueen six-inch line.

Coach Alan Howard was very pleased with the effort shown throughout most of the game. "We thought we were safe when it was 19-0, but their coming back taught us a lesson that may be very valuable. We did come back strong, nevertheless. When we needed to hold on to the football, we did."

In the slim department of individual statistics, Burnett led the locals with 11-45. Massanelli had 15-17, Samuels 3-9, Waller 5-8, and Jordan 5-3.

Knight did rather well for the opposition, coming only three yards short of the team total for the Bobcats. He was 21-79. Danny Pike was 10-25, Dunn 6-17, Havis 4-13, Eley 6-8, Neely 1-3, and Charles Pike 1-2.

Larger and Easier to Read Today

Hope Star publishes 18 cartoons and the crossword puzzle daily — 12 features on this page — and the other six on separate pages.

Our reproduction is the largest offered by the national newspaper syndicates. The remaining four-column strips will be increased to five columns as soon as the syndicates make the larger size available.

TREASURE

What are your treasures? Where are they hidden? Which do you love most, God, or gold? Are you more interested in the work of His church or in the production of your mine? Do you get more pleasure from helping people or from hoarding wealth? What is the power of yellow metal? What is the hidden lure of riches that makes a man rise to the bait and be caught on the hook of destruction? Don't let this deadly paralysis seize you. Twenty of the world's richest men met in Chicago. All of them died poor men and most of their careers came to a tragic end. The real treasures are Heavenly treasures. Lay up a chest full where rust and thieves cannot break through to them.
